J. W. G E S T E R

Traditional Landscape Artist

Gester has had a long career as a fine landscape painter. His work includes both fine renditions of beautiful landscapes in traditional styles as well as his uniquely original style influenced by the master landscape painters of the past.

He began painting in his early teens. He has always admired the style of the American Hudson River School artists and has emulated their technique in his own work. His style of thinly painted multiple layers and use of subtle color is most reminiscent of early European Victorian paintings of traditional landscapes.

Gester's Paintings have been sold widely throughout Europe and South East Asia, as well as in Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas and High Point, North Carolina Merchandise Markets since 1992.

He has had no formal education and is completely self taught. He was born in Prague in 1944. He currently resides outside of Berlin.
